Plumbing Supply and More Addresses Repair Delays With Broad Inventory and Same-Day Shipping

August 07, 2026

Caln Township, Pennsylvania - August 07, 2026 -
In plumbing and HVAC repair, the difference between a same-day fix and a multi-day delay often comes down to a single part. When a valve fails or a fitting cracks, the ability to source the right plumbing supply component quickly can determine whether a homeowner regains hot water that afternoon or waits until the following week. Local hardware stores frequently stock only a narrow selection of pipe, fittings, and specialty components, leaving both licensed contractors and homeowners searching further afield for the exact part a job requires.

Plumbing Supply and More has positioned itself to close that gap. The company operates a ten-warehouse distribution network stocking more than 20,000 parts, spanning pipe and fittings, valves, water heaters, hydronic heating, HVAC equipment, ducting and venting, and tools. Orders placed before 1 PM ship the same day, an operational standard aimed directly at the timelines that govern working job sites and urgent household repairs.

That breadth of inventory is central to how the company describes its role in the market. Rather than functioning as a general retailer, it operates as a full plumbing supply house serving trade professionals and do-it-yourself customers alike. Major equipment is sourced manufacturer-direct from brands including Carrier and Trane, and wholesale pricing typically reserved for licensed contractors is extended to homeowners as well.

"Sourcing delays are one of the most common reasons a straightforward repair turns into a drawn-out project," said a spokesperson for Plumbing Supply and More. "The goal has always been to keep the parts people actually need in stock and moving, so a contractor managing several sites or a homeowner dealing with a failed water heater is not left waiting on a component that should have been available the same day."

Technical support is another distinguishing element. Inquiries are handled by staff with real trade experience rather than general retail employees, allowing customers to confirm compatibility and specifications before an order ships. The practical impact of a well-stocked supply source extends across the industry: fewer project delays, fewer callbacks, more predictable timelines for contractors juggling multiple job sites, and fewer wasted trips for homeowners attempting repairs on their own.

The company frames its 75-year, family-owned history as evidence of that consistency. Longevity of this kind reflects sustained industry trust, built across generations of contractors who have relied on the same plumbing supply resource through changing product lines and evolving codes.

"Seventy-five years in this business teaches a simple lesson," the spokesperson added. "Reliability matters more than any single sale. When people know the parts will be there and the guidance is sound, they come back, and they bring the next generation of their crews with them."

Plumbing Supply and More is a family-owned distributor of professional-grade plumbing and HVAC supplies with three-quarters of a century of operating history.
